This picture was taken July 30, 1895 at Crookston, Minnesota. Since Mark Twain’s contract called for continuous traveling, he insisted in good humor that Major Pond keep him moving on the platform. Major Pond is at the “controls” and Mrs. Clemens is in the background. This picture was taken by Clara Clemens, Mark Twain’s daughter, and appeared on the birthday anniversary of author Mark Twain in 1935 in a New York paper. Picture belongs to Mrs. Leonard Anderson of Crookston.

The Albert Arness farm in 1914. The total cost to Albert for the spacious home was only $1500. This amount covered the labor and materials. Located in Roome Township, see page 380 for story.

School District number 74; this school is called the Round School.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlot Quern on their wedding day. Story on page 308.