Sherry was a high school senior when "the Tech" opened for classes. She enrolled in general education courses with an interest in accounting. "I figured that that way I could get a decent job if I had to stop school to work." Sherry continued toward a degree in marketing and small business management but was discouraged to find that companies refused to interview women for management trainee positions. Every interview was subtly turned to only accounting positions. Since Sherry was only a few credits short of an accounting degree also, she was contacted by several companies. "If it weren't for UMC I would never have had a chance for those interviews. UMC called me at home more than once to put me in touch with Land O Lakes and Control Data."
President previews homecoming

Happy Spring! This winter in the North Country was very mild compared to most winters, with very little snow and not too cold. Some of you might not have been so lucky, but I hope you all fared well. With the coming of the new season, the campus has already turned to Fall and homecoming activities. Homecoming will be October 8th this year. Mark your calendars! The honored classes are only as successful as the classmaters make them. Let’s see a lot of those old faces on campus next fall! As the Association gets older and larger, the selection process for our recognition banquet gets to be more difficult each year.

Provost notes recent accomplishments

GREETINGS TO ALL YOU UMCER’S WHEREVER YOU ARE! It’s a great pleasure for me to see you in your places of work from time to time. I appreciate the very special family relationship between those who have been together at UMC.

It has been a proud year at the college. Achievements have been noteworthy in DECA competition, in intercollegiate athletic arenas, and through participation in classroom-related activities across the nation. You graduates set a pattern of achievement that is a model for the present students.

I hope that each of you reserved October 7-8, 1983, for homecoming at UMC. The annual recognition banquet will be on Friday, October 7, with the football game and related festivities scheduled after the game on Saturday. This year there will be special activities for the honored classes of 1969 and 1973. We hope that all of you who were part of those classes will make a special effort to be with us. The 1973 football team is also considering a special reunion this year.

I wish that each of you might have seen the crowds on campus for the boys and girls district and regional basketball tournaments this year. It was an excellent opportunity to provide the famous UMC hospitality. A special congratulations to graduates Keith Ramberg and Jim LeClair who joined the Presidents Club of UMC. They are making a special financial commitment to the future of the college through this association. I invite all of you to support the activities of UMC through contributions to the Alumni Annual Fund.

Charter members received into Presidents Club

University president C. Peter Magrath was the guest speaker at the winter recognition luncheon of Presidents Club members on January 21. The Presidents Club is a group of individuals who have invested $10,000 or more in the University of Minnesota—Crookston.

"To date, 27 members have committed nearly $300,000 in support of UMC through the technical college or the experiment station programs," said Lowell Larson, development officer at UMC.

At the Presidents Club luncheon, President Magrath presented plaques to each of the 18 new members: Peter A. Carlson, Argyle; Gary C. McVey, Courtney E. Pulkrabek, Keith A. Ramberg, Charles C. Rongen, Donald Sargant, Robert G. Smith, Aaron Stover, Stephen A. Wright, Bernard E. Youngquist, all of Crookston; Howard B. Bergerud, Edina; Allan A. Dragseth, Eldred; Harris A. Peterson, Grand Forks; E.C. Steller (in memoriam), Red Lake Falls; Robert G. Robinson, St. Paul; Bruce Hamnes, Stephen; Art Howard and Larry Howard, both of Warroad.

Although this is an all-University club, the donor has the right to designate to which campus the money will be directed. At UMC significant amounts have been earmarked for student scholarships, instructional equipment and capital improvements. Membership in the President’s Club is offered to individuals investing cash, securities or real estate valued at $10,000 or more (payable up to ten years), or $25,000 in a deferred plan (bequest, life insurance, etc.) or a $5,000 gift (payable up to ten years) and $12,500 deferred investment.

The UMC Hall of Honor is a recognition center for major contributors to the college and experiment station. It is located in the foyer of the food service building.

Alumni board seeks three new members

Three new members will be welcomed onto the 1983-84 alumni association board of directors at the October homecoming meeting. Applications and nominations are now being accepted for these vacancies.

The board meets monthly to plan association events, determine programming, and assist the alumni office in maintaining updated mailing lists. During 1982-83 the board sponsored homecoming events, winter dinners, Ag-Arama events, and initiated an Alumni Career Day for current UMC students. Board members are expected to attend meetings and participate in the events it sponsors.

Directors completing their terms on the board are Sherry O'Gorman ('69), Grace Stroml (74), and Lori Olson ('82). Other board members are Cindy Bigger ('81), Lynne Johnson ('78), Al Gustafson ('68), Randy Mitteness ('76), Krista Proulx ('76), and Donna Ramberg ('69).

Persons interested in serving on the alumni association board of directors can write to Cheri Viestenz at the UMC Alumni Office, 215 Selvig Hall. Nominations/applications should be received by June 1.

Life insurance: A contribution

Would you like to make a major gift to the University of Minnesota—Crookston (UMC) or to a UMC program but feel you can’t afford it? Do you want to be a member of the prestigious University Presidents Club but your cash flow does not allow it? A life insurance policy is one of the least expensive methods of charitable giving. This is particularly true for younger people. Here is how it works:

1. Take out a new life insurance policy.
   A. A whole life policy with a level premium is recommended. For a Presidents Club membership the value must be $25,000 or more.
   B. UMC is the owner and beneficiary of the policy. Therefore, your entire premiums are tax deductible on your state and federal income tax.
   C. The cost of a policy will depend on your age, policy amount, and insurance company but here is a general range.

<tr>
<th>AGE</th>
<th>POLICY FACE VALUES</th>
<th>ANNUAL PREMIUMS</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>25</td>
<td>$10,000-25,000</td>

   2. Assign an existing policy to UMC.
      A. Present cash value and all future premiums payment on income are tax deductible.
      B. Determine what program at UMC you would like to see benefitted by your gift.

   The personal advantage of this program is that through your regular giving plan (annual premium) you leverage your money several times.

Example: Assume you take out a $25,000 policy with a premium cost of $300. If you pay 30 percent of your income to state or federal income taxes your $300 premium will cost only $210 annually. But more important, this $210 per year would mean an ultimate gift of $25,000. In forty years (probably the maximum you would pay premiums) you would contribute $8,400 but the amount of benefit to UMC would be $25,000 or more.

   This is only a general example since your situation and insurance policy will vary. Your insurance agent can give you more specific examples.

   If you are interested in this type of program, please contact Lowell Larson, Institutional Advancement University of Minnesota, Crookston.
Winter quarter enrollment at UMC increased 2.3 percent over last year. The Crookston and Waseca campuses were the only ones in the University system to show an increase.

The Berg family of Hallock represents alumni from both UMC and the Northwest School of Agriculture enjoying the winter dinners. Posing here are Linda (Schmitt), David Bergh (both '71) and Dorothy Finkenbinder (both '49).

Alumni winter dinners bring former classmates, instructors together

The UMC oxcart is traditionally presented to the guest traveling the farthest distance. Cindy Bigger ('83) from Pernam, MN receives it at the Moorhead dinner from Provost Sahlstrom and Hersch Lysaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Skolness ('49) were honored by Dr. Sahlstrom as parents of the youngest child when they attended the Moorhead dinner.

Historic church donated to UMC

The congregation of the Hafso Lutheran Church has voted unanimously to make a gift of their church building to the UMC campus. The congregation was disbanded after ninety years of service at a location ten miles southeast of Crookston.

At UMC the church would be a center for informal and ecumenical campus ministry programs as well as organizational events and displays. Built in 1900, the church will be located on campus adjacent to the former NWSA superintendent’s home (now known as the “White House”), emphasizing the importance of home, church, and school in pioneer life.

The University of Minnesota regent’s acceptance of the Hafso Church was contingent on private fundraising efforts to pay for the costs of relocation. An exciting development in funding may help the project reach its goal of $25,000, the minimum amount needed for the relocation which includes moving, site preparation, etc.

Through its Branch Matching Fund program Lutheran Brotherhood, a fraternal organization serving Lutheran congregations, will match gifts up to $250 per congregation. One of the most valuable resources in each congregation is UMC alumni. Would you be willing to work with the Lutheran Brotherhood member in an effort to raise money through your congregation and receive the matching funds?

For more information on the church project and Branch Matching Fund contact Janet Sohlem, chrm., Hafso Church Committee; Route 3, Box 113; Crookston, MN 56716, telephone 218-381-2182.
Nominees selected for awards

Nominations for the 1983 Personal Achievement and Personal Service awards drew a wide range of alumni talents and contributions. Now the selection process begins, with the awards presented at the annual Alumni Recognition Banquet on Friday, October 7, homecoming weekend.

If you receive application forms as a nominee please complete and return them. It is an honor to be nominated. These awards represent the highest recognition UMC gives to distinguished alumni. Nominations are submitted upon request. The selection committee considers names given by alumni, former students, and UMC administration, faculty, and staff. These nominations are given to graduates or former students who have attained an unusual distinction in the chosen field, profession, or public service. The selection committee considers nominees' educational background, professional accomplishments, community service, professional affiliations, community-state-national honors, and personal references.

Past winners of the Personal Achievement award include: Thrains Kristjansson (72), Ken Pazdernek (79), and Gerald Moritz (68) in 1980; Debra Habedank (76) and Richard Ramey (79) in 1981; and Lon Christianson (attended 70), June Delorme (72), Jim LeClair (attended '68-'69), and Kenneth Oehlke ('72) in 1982.

Past Personal Service award winners include Grace Stroml (75), Wayne Omundson (74, 76), and Darrell Larsen (72) in 1980; Tom Peiro (75), Anne Granitz (68), and Keith Ramberg ('68, '70) in 1981; and Jim Clauson (attended '74), Brent Jacobson ('76), and Bob Larson ('79) in 1982.

The selection committee is an independent group of community leaders. Among the eight members are two judges and one award recipient from the previous year. This committee reviews the application forms and personal references of each nominee and ranks the applications according to a predetermined scale.

The alumni office coordinates the awards process and homecoming details but does not determine award recipients. That selection is made independently by the committee. If you have any questions, please contact the alumni office or call (218) 281-6510, Ext. 435.

Alumni return for first annual Alumni Career Day

How did you get your first job? What kind of jobs are there in my field? What should I be taking here at UMC to better prepare me for a job? These and many other questions were discussed at the first annual Alumni Career Day on March 15.

About thirty alumni from the agriculture and home economics divisions were on campus for a morning of alumni information and a session with current students sharing the same major with alumni.

The event provided current students with firsthand information on job markets and how to be most successful in reaching job goals from the date of graduation through one's career.

Alumni spent part of the morning hearing about alumni association events and plans for the future from association president Sherry O'Gorman. Dan Cavalier, director of placement, reminded major that they are still eligible for placement services by reacting to and updating personal files. The placement office also encouraged all alumni to notify it of openings which could be filled by UMC graduates or current students.

The question and answer session with students gave alumni an opportunity to expand on their present job situations and the job progression they have followed. Each Hanston was moderated by a division faculty member who helped initiate and answer students' questions.

Provost Sahlin enjoyed welcoming alumni back to UMC for the Alumni Career Day.
