The gala kick off event of homecoming is the annual Alumni Recognition Banquet honoring outstanding alumni for their service to UMC and career achievements. The recipients are determined by an independent selection committee.

Personal Service Awards are presented for alumni contributions to UMC through time, financial, promotional, recruitment, and placement services. The award signifies intense commitment by an alumnus to the college.

Personal Achievement Awards honor career accomplishments and significant contributions to one's community, family, and church. Personal Achievement Awards have been given to alumni from all degree-granting divisions at UMC.

Four alumni received awards during the 1984 homecoming Recognition Banquet.

Mark's Current

Mark Schwiderski is a 1972 graduate of the agriculture division's biological laboratory technician program. He applied this degree toward the field of quality control, currently employed as plant manager for Taftor Seeds in Danvers, MN. In this position Mark implements production conditioning, warehousing, and distribution of the seed products. Mark's current and former employers consistently praise his abilities, one said, "his middle name could well be "Quality" as this is the key trait Mark consistently exhibits in both his professional and personal life."

Another cited his commitment to the company saying, "Mark represents the image of the company which is equally effective before an audience of employees or customers. He is an important contributor to the pride our personnel have in their organization.

In recent years Mark's projects initiated new seed treatments, established quality control testing laboratories, promoted state emergency clearance labels for treated sunflowers, and researched existing procedures and equipment.

Mark is also involved in community projects. He is a registered emergency medical technician volunteer working with ambulance service, a Jaycee member, and participant in many fund raising and community events. He is married to Wanda, and the father of four children.

Mark's accomplishments may be best summed up by one of his references who stated, "it's my pleasure to support Mark's nomination for the Alumni Personal Achievement Award. After all, how often does Schwiderski come along in one's life?"

Linda's Current

Linda Schmitz Bergh is a 1974 Business Division graduate from the Aviation, Executive, Legal, and Medical Secretarial programs. She worked for the G.A. Carlson & Associates accounting firm in Crookston after graduation. She married David Bergh, who is also a UMC alumnus, and they have three children.

Linda served on the UMC Alumni Association Board of Directors for six years, attending meetings regularly despite a 160-mile round trip from Hallock. During these years she was instrumental in developing the board's constitution and bylaws, and also helped initiate this Alumni Recognition Banquet.

Linda continues to contribute to UMC and its alumni association. She frequently helps coordinate alumni winter dinners in the Hallock area, is class leader for the Class of 1974's ten-year reunion this year, and is always willing to offer suggestions and time.

Linda's service to UMC as a college is just as valuable and consistent. She frequently visits with potential UMC students describing the programs and opportunities it offers, keeps alumni updated on events in the area, informs the alumni office of address changes when local alumni move, encourages employers to hire UMC graduates, and consistently contributes to campus needs through her Alumni Annual Fund gift.

Those who know and work with Linda Bergh see how she utilizes the resources of time, enthusiasm, and money available to her for the best possible use. This is the commitment she has given UMC for the past ten years.

Brenda's Current

Brenda Quanbeck is honored tonight for her work as supervisor of Nursing Home Activities and the Adult Day Care Program at Riverview Hospital. She was first employed by the hospital following her 1970 graduation from the home economics program. Brenda's work has increased the number of participants in the Adult Day Care Program providing an alternative to nursing home placement. Her projects include arranging meals at local restaurants, and utilizing community invitations to invite residents. Two examples of her coordination with the school system include a first grade reading program for students and residents, and a second grade pen-pal program.

Riverview employees and administrators strongly support Brenda's accomplishments. One reference said, "To see her with the elderly makes it obvious that those very special qualities of patience and understanding are Brenda's in the biggest way."

In response to her accomplishments, Riverview Hospital's 1982 "Reaching Out To Serve" Award went to the Adult Day Care Program for meeting a community need.

Brenda is personally active in the community as a member of the Crookston Jaycee Women, Minnesota Adult Day Care Association, and National Activity Professionals Organization. She is also reading, watching through Moorhead State University to complete her degree in Human Services.

UCM is proud of your accomplishments, Brenda, and appreciates your contribution to the Crookston Community.

KRISTA PROULX

Our final Personal Service Award recipient this evening is Krista Boen Proulx, a 1975 business graduate who is now a junior library assistant in UMC's Media Resource Center.

Krista is a prime example of alumni service to the college. She was elected to the Alumni Association Board of Directors in 1978 and has served as secretary, treasurer, vice president, and currently president.

In recent years Krista has participated in numerous board-sponsored events and chaired the homecoming committee for three years. As president, she frequently speaks on behalf of the association and represents it at college functions such as legislative dinners and meetings with campus guests.

The alumni board will never let her forget that she didn't complete her duties to speak on behalf of the association at the 1984 commencement ceremonies. But she did have a good reason, having just given birth to twins. Krista and her husband Mike, who is also a UMC grad, now have three sons.

On campus Krista is a member of the Civil Service Committee, serving as secretary-treasurer in 1982. She also serves on the UMC Scholarship Committee and is active on the White House Alumni Center Restoration Committee.

Krista demonstrates her service and alumni leadership in a quiet, industrious manner that is not always obvious. But her consistently promotes UMC and the Alumni Association through her work, financial contributions, and her commitment to the association.

Thank you, Krista, for all you've done. We look forward to your second year as president of the UMC Alumni Association.
Dr. Sahlstrom announces resignation

Provost Stanley D. Sahlstrom announced Friday, October 13 that he will resign his position of provost for the Crookston campus. The resignation is effective June 30, 1986. The announcement is made in this time to allow for a national search over the next eight months.

Sahlstrom, chief administrative officer for the college, was the founding provost of the Crookston campus technical institution.

"I've been very fortunate to have had the opportunity to provide leadership and guidance in Crookston with a new mission, but under the umbrella of a great land grant University. The college is now well established and is providing remarkable service to the northwestern Minnesota, to the people of the state," said Sahlstrom.

Sahlstrom, who will look for other areas of service to the University and the state after a leave of absence.

"I shall always be committed to this campus, to the University of Minnesota, and to the people of this state," added Sahlstrom.

In 1965 Sahlstrom joined the University of Minnesota as director of the then named Technical Institute. He has been responsible for supervising the development of new college programs, employment of staff, and remodeling and building facilities to house the new programs. The college opened its doors to freshmen in the fall of 1966. The Council has adopted the following $3,000 budget for 1984-85:

The Council is also responsible for determining the use of Alumni Annual Fund contributions. Gifts designated for specific purposes, such as scholarships or the White House restoration will be used for those projects. The Council will appropriate undesignated gifts for alumni-sponsored scholarships, association events, and college projects. There is a complete report of 1983-84 Alumni Annual Fund contributions and designations in this Trojan Torch issue.

Alumni Planning Council members anticipate growth in the association's membership, programming opportunities, and financial independence during 1986. There are many committee positions open to alumni who want to be involved during this important year of reorganization. If you want to contribute your time to the UMC Alumni Association, contact the Alumni Center at UMC or one of the Council members listed in this issue.

University president C. Peter Magrath and his wife Diane answered questions following his final report to the Board of Regents meeting at UMC.

Sahlstrom's wife, Mil, has been active in university, community, state, and national organizations, and currently serves on the Minnesota State Arts Board.

Governor Rudy Perpich commented, "I have mixed emotions about Dr. Sahlstrom's decision to retire. On one hand, Minnesota is losing one of its most creative and energetic educational leaders. On the other hand, I know that Stan will redirect his great talent and enthusiasm in other ways that will benefit the community and the state. I join thousands of other Minnesotans in thanking him for his exceptional service over 20 years, and wishing him and Mil the very best in their new endeavors in retirement."

Sahlstrom is active in a number of educational associations on the national level, is president of Post International Network, commissioner of North Central Association, and is a consultant-examiner for the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association. He has been past president of numerous professional and service organizations at local, state, and national levels.

President initiates homecoming 1985 plans

Greetings from the Alumni Planning Council.

Each homecoming has its own spirit and highlights to guarantee good memories for returning alumni. This year certainly had its share.

Next year the classes of 1976 and 1975 will celebrate reunions. Since I am a 1976 graduate, I'm inviting volunteers to help plan our ten-year reunion and make it one of the biggest tourneys ever. I'm already starting an address search for former classmates.

The Alumni Planning Council continues to implement its reorganization. We formed two action committees, one dealing with alumni participation and the other with alumni services. Their functions and goals are outlined in another article in this issue.

Each of these committees will report to the Council. Committee membership is open to any interested alumni. We hope to involve representatives from each of the academic divisions and as many of the alumni subgroups as possible. We also have input from the UMC Student Senate in order to work more closely with students and inform their opportunities in the association.

Remember, UMC appreciates your support whether it is on a committee, through financial gifts, student recruitment, or placement of fellow graduates. So if you want to be more involved in the UMC Alumni Association contact the Alumni office at the White House Alumni Center on campus.

Krista Proulx, president
White House Alumni Center welcomes guests during homecoming festivities on campus

The living-dining room is a formal setting depicting the colors and mood of the 1920’s era. These chairs and two others that match have been used in UMC offices since the NWSA closed. They are now permanent furnishings in the alumni center.

The fireside room has a more casual atmosphere which will be inviting for guests who wish to browse through more recent yearbooks, read class notes, or look up addresses of former classmates. Initial remodeling of this room includes new fireplace brick in the red hues of early White House days, a heavy oak mantel, and a plush oriental rug over the refinished hardwood floor. The only remaining NWSA furniture for this room is a library table and a matron’s table from Dining Supervisor Myrtle Brown’s living quarters.

The original kitchen has been used as a UMC office in recent years. It will be renovated into a functional reception area for greeting guests and providing buffet meal service. The alumni staff and boards of directors for both NWSA and UMC Alumni Associations anticipate frequent entertainment of alumni for receptions, teas, and full meal service.

As visitors ascend the open stairway to the alumni and development offices on the second floor they will enjoy photos taken on campus and mounted on the walls. Displays of alumni archives are planned throughout the center.

The restoration committee also plans for the basement. This open area will house decade-by-decade archives collections for visitors who wish to reminisce about one specific time or want to see the history of the schools evolve.

All remodeling and renovating of the alumni center and its furnishings are funded through alumni gifts. The boards of directors from both the NWSA and UMC Alumni Associations have designated money donated to the alumni annual fund for alumni services to be used in the restoration process. A goal of $60,000 in personal and class gifts is needed to complete the restoration of the building. $10,000 has already been donated and spent on the project.

Along with the physical restoration of the center the interior needs appropriate furnishings. Several items have already been donated by alumni. The center needs sofas, chairs, lamps, and accessories. If you have items from the 1920-1930 period which you would be willing to donate, please contact the alumni office.

All gifts to the alumni center, both financial and furnishings, are recorded in a gift book donated by the class of 1943. In addition, donors will be named on gift level plaques in the center and receive a record of the tax-deductible gifts.

The alumni center is open Monday-Friday, 8:00 to 4:30 p.m.
Homecoming 1984 generates memories, appreciation for Trojan 'school days'

Trojan fans huddled together during the rain and wind to watch the UMC-Brainerd homecoming contest.
