Five receive alumni awards

The gala kick-off event of homecoming is the annual Alumni Recognition Banquet honoring outstanding alumni for their service to UMC and career achievements. Personal Service Awards are presented for alumni contributions to UMC through time, financial, promotional, recruitment, and placement services. The award signifies intense commitment by an alumnus to the college.

Personal Achievement Awards honor career accomplishments and significant contributions to one's community, family, and church. Personal Achievement Awards have been given to alumni from all degree-granting divisions at UMC.

Five alumni received awards during the 1985 Alumni Recognition Banquet. The recipients were determined by an independent selection committee representing the Crookston community, UMC, and former alumni and recipients, committee members were: Linda Berg, Janet Hiller, Dave Hoff, Lori Materer, Ed Odland, Ron Beilmeier, June Shaver, Bob Sobolik, Paul Aakre, 76, banquet emcee, read the following counts of their accomplishments during a slide display introducing the award winner.

Randy Mitteness

Originally from Benson, Minnesota, Randy Mitteness is now an Ada, Minnesota resident where he is employed as a loan officer for Production Credit Association. His 1976 UMC degree in diversified agriculture followed by a bachelor's degree from North Dakota State University provides a thorough understanding of the agricultural situation facing the farmers he deals with daily.

In his career Jerry moved from the position of staff administrator in Boston to director of management services at the Marquette and Northstar Hotels in Minneapolis and the Omni Park Central Hotel in New York City. While at the Marquette Jerry initiated what has become the annual $10,000 Easter Egg Hunt. He was recently promoted to operations analyst with Omni Dynasty in Hampton, New Hampshire. He is responsible for the preparation and analysis of 17 existing and six new hotels.

Those who have watched Jerry's progress observe that he is highly regarded by both his superiors and his staff. One said of him; "Jerry's initiative and creativity have been a boon to each position he held. Whether it was an east coast chain or a major city hotel, each project bears recognizable, organized, excellently executed features we call 'Jerry's Touch.'"

Roger Dvergsten

Roger Dvergsten's career in education began with his 1976 degree from UMC in the dairy production program. He received a bachelor's degree in agriculture education from North Dakota State University and is currently pursuing advanced studies at the University of Minnesota-St. Paul.

Roger began work in the Red Lake Falls school district teaching agriculture construction. As a vocational agriculture instructor for Lakefield High School, Roger generated awards and recognition for his students, the school, and himself. His Lakefield FFA chapter earned 59 plaques and first place ribbons through invitational crops, dairy, and general livestock contests in a three-year period. Along with numerous district and regional awards, his 1981 team was the national champion general livestock team winning the opportunity to compete in Scotland. Roger was named the 1983 Lakefield Teacher of the Year. That same year the Minnesota Vocational Instructors Association named him the Outstanding Young Agriculture Instructor in Minnesota. For five consecutive years (1981-85), he was the winner of the Minnesota Ag Teachers Exchange of Ideas Contest.

Community organizations and projects have grown with a lot of Roger's time.

Jerry Jacobson

A native of Benson, Minnesota, Jerry Jacobson graduated from UMC in 1972 with one of the earliest degrees in hotel, restaurant, and institutional management. He continued his education at Cornell University receiving a bachelor's degree in hotel administration.

Jerry Rude

As a UMC gardener, Jerry Rude's work is more appreciated than most offices on campus. Developing the landscaping on campus and maintaining its regional reputation as a showcase is a matter of personal pride to Jerry, dating back to the days his father cared for these grounds. Those who work on this campus credit Jerry for working far beyond the required hours of his UMC job. One said: 'He and his colleagues are directly responsible for the extremely positive feeling one gets driving through this campus. He also maintains a very positive interaction with faculty and staff, and continues to search for new innovations to make UMC better. Jerry's job provided year-round experience while he completed his UMC degree in landscape, turf, and grounds program. He also applied this knowledge as assistant superintendent of the Minakwa Country Club and in community projects such as the Crookston Centennial beautification program, and designing the CROOKSTON lettering in flowers outside the arena.

As a former faculty member, his wife Becky shares Jerry's commitment to the college. They have three children: Joshua, Kristen, and Alissa. Jerry is a valuable member of the UMC staff, his church, and the many service projects he participates in.

Cindy Bigger

Cindy Bigger of Perham invested her education, her employment, her contributions, and a great deal of her free time in the University of Minnesota.

Following her 1979 graduation from UMC's home and family services division, Cindy completed a bachelor's degree in home economics education at North Dakota State University in Fargo. She is now an East Dorie Tall county extension agent headquartered near Perham, Minnesota. She manages the county 4-H program including the development of an adult volunteer management system.

One of Cindy's earliest awards cited her positive attitude as a spokesperson for UMC and the University system. "I have heard her promote the educational opportunities available at UMC as she works with 4-H parents, youth members, and educators," she said. "She has that ability to communicate the college's needs to others."

Cindy recently participated in the technical assistance for Jamaica program through the University of Minnesota College of Home Economics. For six months she worked without a salary developing curriculum for 4-H youth in Jamaica.

During the past three years Cindy has been an active member of the UMC Alumni Association board of directors, driving two hours from Perham to Crookston for meetings. She is known on the board for her skits, committee motivation, and "Blindly Important Quotes" for president's letters.

Cindy is also the youngest associate 1000 member at Crookston. She designated her donation for UMC scholarships and academic programming. It seems Cindy has done such a good job recruiting her 4-H youth for UMC that she convinced herself to go back to school. In January she will begin work towards her master's degree at the University of Minnesota-St. Paul.
From the President

Let's briefly review Homecoming '85 - it was a success, even winning the football game in the last minute of the game! Most of the activities are highlighted on another page of this newsletter but the real story is the excitement generated when old friends meet. Homecoming '85, again, provided opportunity for many to renew friendships (with classmates and faculty). Hope you will be here at Homecoming '86.

A final note on homecoming - The Alumni Association officially recognized Dr. Stanley D. Sahistrom for 20 years of dedicated service to UMC, students, and alumni. We were pleased with his leadership in making UMC a great institution.

Also, at homecoming, we met the new leader (now called Chancellor), Dr. Donald Sargeant. Chancellor Sargeant is very familiar with UMC (joined UMC in 1970) and has great enthusiasm for UMC's future. The October Alumni Planning Council meeting, Chancellor Sargeant shared his vision for UMC's future and how the alumni association can assist. He really convinced us that together we can really make UMC even better. Will you give some of your time to help out on this goal?

If yes, here are some opportunities. First, review the direction of the six action committees, and select one you will work on. More joined effort, bringing unique strengths with you. And, others who contributed to the Annual Fund. These funds are needed and the Alumni Planning Council carefully manages these funds.

Special thanks to Cheri Viestenz, UMC Alumni Coordinator, who has recently left the position. Cheri, you're missed, and we appreciated your four years of hard work! Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Randy Mitteness

I am very proud to serve as UMC Alumni Association president this year. Krista Proctor has done a remarkable job, and I am looking forward to continuing her efforts in building a strong association. The TORCH is one way we communicate with alumni. The three major themes of this newsletter are: Homecoming '85, the change in leadership at UMC, and alumni involvement. All are important - please take a minute to read the information.

Chancellor Sargeant Alumni With Future of UMC

Donald Sargeant was elected provost of the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) on May 10, 1988. It held that position for about two hours when the official name for all chief executive officers of the coordinate campuses was changed to chancellor. Sargeant's optimistic view of the Crookston campus is tied to his 15 years at UMC. He joined the UMC faculty in 1970 as assistant professor and chairperson of the agriculture division, was promoted to associate professor and assistant provost for academic affairs in 1973, and to full professor in 1978. After a year of changes in the University administration system, Sargeant said he hopes to establish some stability in guiding UMC into its third decade. University President Kenneth Keller's commitment to Focus paper has absorbed much of Sargeant's time since he assumed office.

We have sorted out what UMC's role is in the training of young people. The job opportunities are there, but we need to make those opportunities known to the young people of northwestern Minnesota.

The University of Minnesota Board of Regents received and reviewed UMC's response to Keller's Committee recommendations on UMC's mission. A final document will come before the December meeting for action.

The response both from Keller and the Regents was positive, according to Sargeant. They said the document provided a direction for UMC which is consistent with its mission and provides a technical and cultural focus, focusing on two and less than four-year programs in agriculture, business, and hospitality and home economics.

Discussion centered on the need to stabilize undergraduate enrollment and to focus program development and review so that it is responsive to changes in student profile, technology, both occupationally and instructionally, and programs and activities in other area institutions and within the University.

Outcomes should include more off-campus instruction primarily in the four areas, more joint appointments within the University, and more research development of new opportunities.

"Instruction will continue to be the primary activity of the institution," added Sargeant.

As an institution, we will continue to privatize the opportunities that exist, but the challenge will be to reach the young people to tell them about the rewarding, viable programs.

UMC has long been recognized for its quality education and friendly concerned faculty, staff, and students. That, according to Sargeant, will continue. As a land grant institution, UMC will be asked to do more off-campus activities. There will be more integration and cooperation of faculty with extension and for research with other units of the University.

UMC alumni can and will play a vital part in the future of the University's Crookston campus, particularly those alumni who live within a 200 mile radius.

First, Sargeant hopes alumni will continue to spread the word about the institution to those young people who are looking at college options.

"That's the easy part," said Sargeant.

Second, UMC has a unique mission. Alumni established in careers can call faculty or departments if they'd like a workshop or seminar sponsored in their area which will help with their business or themselves personally.

"We hope alumni will think of us for helping to design a particular workshop for their area or expertise."

Third, alumni who are employers could look at opportunities to employ UMC graduates or provide internships for students enrolled at UMC.

Fourth, UMC alumni will be encouraged to serve on one of several advisory committees and to help with fundraising.

Finally, Sargeant strongly encourages all alumni to call their alma mater if they have strong concern about the directions UMC is going.

"The campus sincerely welcomes input from its alumni," said Sargeant.

Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs

Rita S. Meyer of Wheeling, West Virginia, has been appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs replacing Donald Sargeant who was named chancellor. Meyer comes to UMC from the position of executive assistant to the president at West Virginia Northern Community College in Wheeling. She received her bachelor of arts degree from West Liberty State College, West Virginia and her master of arts degree in counseling and doctorate in higher education administration, psychology, and career education from West Virginia University in Morgantown.

Planning Council Update

Are you willing to donate four or five hours a month to your alma mater? The UMC Alumni Association Planning Council (formerly Board of Directors) needs additional volunteers to serve on the following six action committees. The committees each specialize in alumni activities including:

Special Events - a committee that will plan and coordinate major alumni events such as constantly changing, fundraising opportunities as DECA, OEA, other clubs and divisional alumni groups.

UMC Support - a group participating in long-range planning support in student recruitment, placement, and campus improvements.

Fund Raising - will determine financial needs of the association and plan for Annual Fund solicitations.

White House Alumni Center - will plan for completion and use of the center as a meeting place and archivist center for UMC and alumni history.

For additional information please call any council member or the White House Alumni Center 218-281-6510. Extension 442. Please consider joining any of the above groups - WE NEED YOUR HELP!

1985 Homecoming King and Queen

Rick Spaeth of Mahnomen and LaRae Carlson of Salol were crowned 1985 Homecoming King and Queen at coronation ceremonies held October 3 at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC). Spaeth is a sophomore majoring in hospitality and home economics in the restaurant management program, and Carlson, also a sophomore, is majoring in agriculture in the dairy science/dairy production program.

The UMC royalty reigned throughout the homecoming weekend when events for students, faculty, alumni, and the community were scheduled.

Future Dairy Plans

Staff members from UMC and Northwest Experiment Station met with a dairy support group that was organized this past year. This group is assisting University personnel with building suggestions and fundraising activities to secure a new dairy research and education building that would replace the current 80-year-old structure at Crookston. A comprehensive study of research and collegiate instruction needs predicates a much-expanded facility. Part of the dairy building will be remodelled and new facilities will be added to update the current building.

UMC's agricultural division chairman, Gary McVey, states, "Educational needs must be met if dairymen in northwest Minnesota are to keep up with the latest methods. Requests for graduate herdsmen and technicians who are familiar with new technology in dairy are received weekly. At the present time, there are not enough graduates in dairy science available to fill the many positions that are now open."

It is hoped that the new dairy facility will incorporate computerized milk records and daily information on each cow. Over 100 specific techniques are taught each term in the dairy facility ranging from hoof trimming to artificial insemination. Proposed plans include shifting a pipeline milker to the educational portion to introduce students to milking techniques on a basic level before they encounter the high technology of a complete milking parlor.

In 1985 the Minnesota Legislature appropriated funds for part of this project. In an early agreement, experiment station and technical college administrators agreed that the University would make a major effort to secure private funds to help complete the "high tech" facility where 15-20 cows will be used exclusively by UMC students and also to set up a scholarship fund for dairy majors. UMC Alumni are urged to consider contributing to this project as well as to the dairy scholarship fund.

UMC Fitness Center Winter Hours

Hours for the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) Fitness Center will be expanded for winter quarter December 2 through March 10. Hours are Monday and Wednesday, 4:30 to 9 p.m.; Friday, 4:30 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday 6 to 7:30 a.m., 9 to 10:30 a.m. (women only), 6 to 9 p.m.; and Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m. New members must call UMC for an appointment at 291-6510, ext. 421.

Winter quarter membership fees are: $40 for family, $25 for individual, or $10 for individual when enrolled in another physical education course at UMC.

TOM KOCH

Tom Koch accepted the position of head hockey coach, assistant football coach, and instructor in the health, physical education, and recreation department at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Koch comes to UMC with coaching experience as a graduate assistant football coach at the University of North Dakota. Previous to that he was assistant football coach at Hill-Murray High School in St. Paul where he worked with both varsity and B-squad levels and was coordinator of strength and conditioning programs.

He was also assistant hockey coach at St. Paul Junior High School, assistant football coach and assistant coach of men's and women's track and field at the University of Minnesota-Morris.

His education includes a master of science degree in physical education with a minor in administration from the University of North Dakota and a bachelor of arts degree in physical education from the University of Minnesota-Morris with a strong background in secondary educational psychology and speech communications.
The Ag Arama Committee, chaired by LaRae Carlson, a dairy science major from Salolle, Minnesota, has been eagerly making preparations for the program and fun activities for January 24 and 25 midwinter's college fair. Previous program items in Ag Aviation, Dairy and General Livestock, FFA, Agronomy and Soils, Ag Chemicals, Horticulture and Mechanized Ag are developing, plus some new fun activities. All contests are open to everyone and all UMC Alumni are especially invited to attend according to John Polley, assistant professor, Agriculture Division.

Homecoming '85

Highlights

Cheri Viestenz, UMC's coordinator for alumni and development programs has accepted a new position with Communication Development, Inc. in St. Paul. Cheri was recognized at the Alumni Recognition Banquet for her dedicated service to the association for the past four years. She is pictured here with Lowell Larson, director of alumni and development.

Jeffrey Becker '77, agriculture graduates in the natural resources program, came from Birdsboro, Pennsylvania to attend homecoming festivities. Presenting him with a gift memento is Krista Boen Proulx '75.

Alumni, faculty, and friends met at the social following the football game. Beer and hors d'oeuvres were served along with a lot of fun and reminiscing!

A jovial group of '75 classmates share memories during their 10-year class reunion program.

Several 1970 classmates gathered for their 15-year reunion.

UMC Alumni Scholarships
Presented at Recognition Banquet

UMC Alumni funds provided scholarships for several UMC students. These scholarships were presented at the annual Scholarship Recognition Banquet held recently in Brown Dining Room.

The Scholarship for Outstanding Students was established in 1982 and is awarded to those students in the top 20 percent of their graduating class who demonstrate outstanding leadership and community involvement.

The UMC Achievement Scholarship, established in 1983, is awarded to those students in the upper half of their class who demonstrate leadership and community involvement.

New HHE Division Chairman

Mr. Glenn Olsen has been appointed as assistant professor and chairperson of the Hospitality and Home Economics Division. Glenn has a Master’s Degree in Child Development from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and is in the process of finishing his Master’s Degree in Home Economics Education and a Ph.D. in Educational Administration from the University of Wisconsin. Glenn was employed since 1979 at Blackhawk Technical Institute as a Home Economics Instructor, where he also served as acting chairman of the Home Economics Division for ten months.

Did you know that it will cost a Minnesota resident $5,474.00 to attend UMC during the 1985-86 academic year? The Admissions and Financial Aid Office provided us with the following financial breakdown: tuition ($58.90/credit) = $1,634; books and supplies = $375; fees with transcript = $182; room and board (on campus) = $2,503; personal expenses $500.

Dear Mrs. Strand:

Greetings from the sky! Just thinking about you so I thought I'd drop you a line and let you know what I am up to these days. I've been flying a lot. I'm still with U.S. Air and I love it and I couldn't be happier! I'm also modeling on the side for a few department stores in Pittsburgh. I'm having the time of my life. It feels so good to live your job!

Things have been super for me. Last month my girlfriend and I went out to Las Vegas to be on the "Price is Right" and believe it or not we both got on the show! I took home $4,000 in prizes. My girlfriend won $3,000 in prizes. I won a roll top desk and chair, color TV, pearl necklace, man's diamond watch, Plymout Voyager Van (which I'm going to my wonderful parents) and I won a Lincoln Continental "Texas Car"! My show is on the new night time version of the "Price is Right" airing September 8. I hope you'll get a chance to see it.

Well, I'll close for now. We're beginning our descent to land.

Take Care and God Bless,

Sincerely,

Betty Rominski
